

UNIVERSITY OF CAMPINAS (UNICAMP), BRAZIL
POSTDOCTORAL RESEARCH FELLOWSHIP OPPORTUNITY (in Ancient or Medieval Philosophy)

The Department of Philosophy of the University of Campinas (Unicamp) calls for applications for one (01) position as Postdoctoral Fellow Researcher in Philosophy. The areas of specialisation and concentration are Ancient Philosophy and Medieval Philosophy. The positions should start in August 2019, pending administrative approval. This is a one-year appointment possibly renewable for a second year.

Researcher's responsibilities include teaching one graduate course on a topic related to the researcher's area of interest, leaving the other semester free to pursue research (which include organizing seminars with students). The courses may be taught in English or Portuguese. It lasts one semester, but can be offered in a concentrated period of the semester according to the University rules.

The current monthly value of postdoctoral scholarships amounts to 4.100 reais (Brazilian currency).

Qualifications

Applicants must have completed the requirements for the PhD by June 01, 2019 or before, and must have defended the PhD thesis no more than 10 years ago. Those who are not Brazilians should prove home address. They cannot be employed by another institution during the period of their appointment at Unicamp, nor be retired.

How to Apply:

Candidates should send email to <depfilo.unicamp@gmail.com> with "Application for post-doc position" in the subject, with the following attachments:

- 01) An updated curriculum vitae;
- 02) Contact information of two referees who will be asked to comment specifically on the applicants qualification; alternatively, the candidates can present two recommendation letters.
- 03) A research proposal (not to exceed 1,500 words), describing the project to be carried out;
- 04) A sample of Academic writing (papers published, or papers under review, book manuscript etc.).
- 05) A cover letter (optional).

Dead-line:

Completed applications must be received by February 22, 2019, to ensure full consideration. An interview via Skype in English will be scheduled with short-listed candidates during early March.

About the University of Campinas

Located in Campinas, the University of Campinas (Unicamp) is one of the largest and most qualified universities in Brazil and is considered one of the most important higher education institutions in Latin America. Ranked among the top philosophy departments in Brazil and in the world for research and teaching, the Department of Philosophy teaches a wide range of courses in the main areas of philosophy. Philosophy at University of Campinas has been ranked among the world top 100 by QS World University Rankings for many times consecutively (see <http://www.topuniversities.com/university-rankings/university-subject-rankings/2013/philosophy>).

Further information

Contact the Director of Graduate Programme: Prof. Márcio Damin Custódio <msdamin@gmail.com>, or Prof. Lucas Angioni <angioni.lucas@gmail.com>